Visual diversity

1. Spatial (scenting of big spaces)

We need a balance of big spaces (from her case studies) to show the corporate side of her work, differentiating from typical scent companies

2. Abstract (soft scent layering)

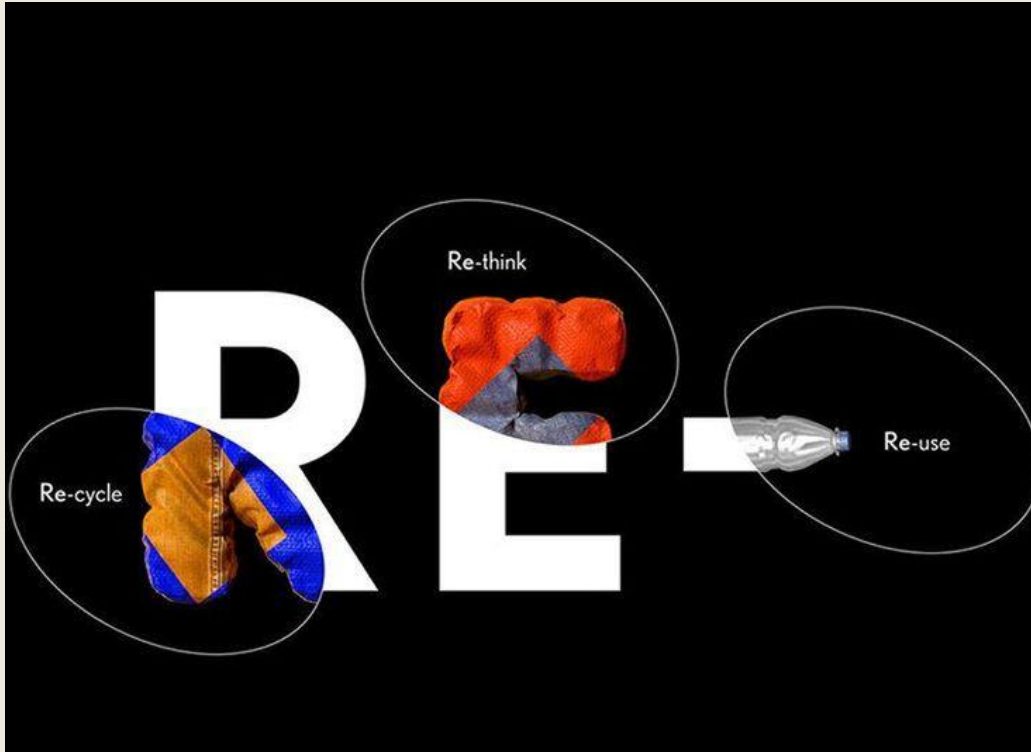

Then when we need to focus on the innate, natural power of scent, we focus more on macro images that can evoke a scentsory atmosphere.

3. Workshops (events)

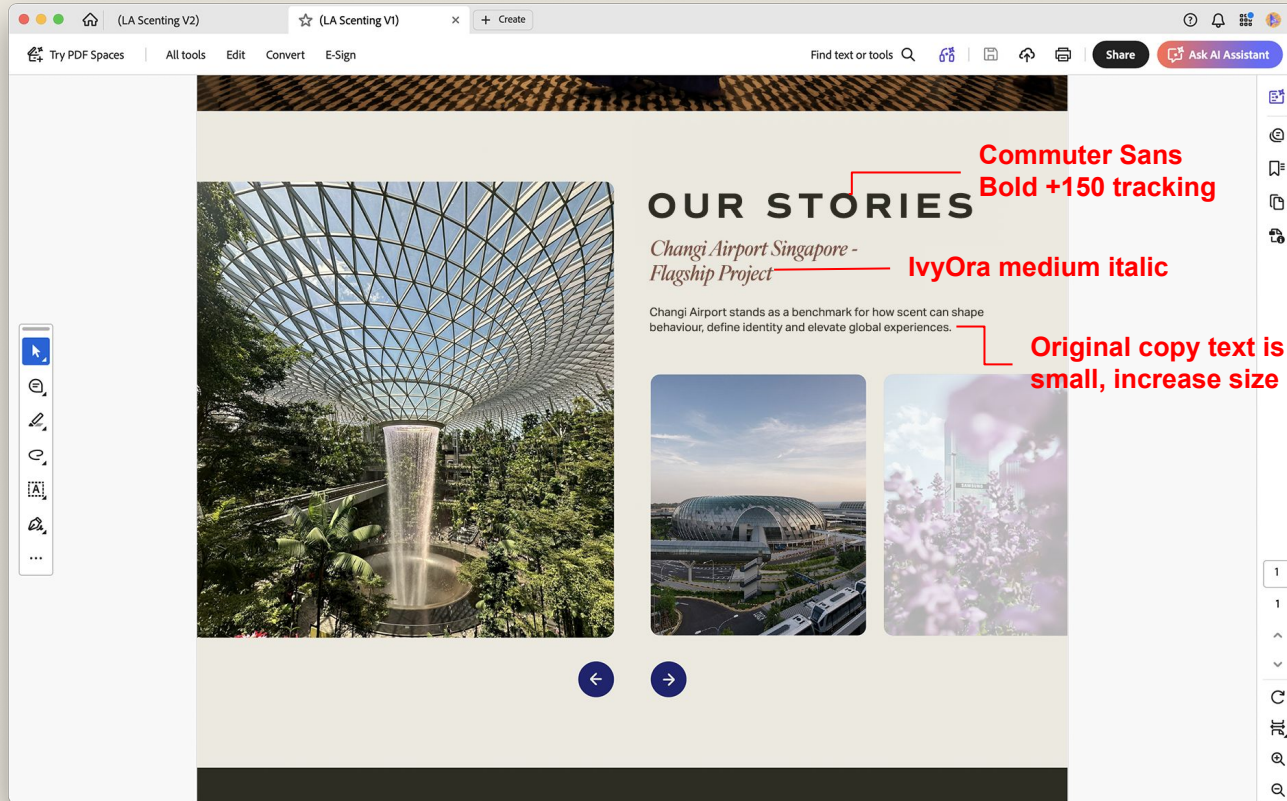

Then for workshops / events, we will focus on smaller scent bottles and vials to show the more executional side of things.

Interactive layer

I was thinking of how we can do something interactive to make the brand name "LA Scenting" more prominent in the website. And instead of just a large logo, perhaps we can do something interactive and contains an additional layer of meaning:

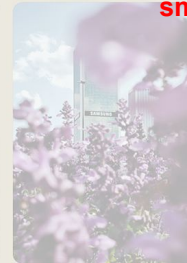

For e.g. your mouse cursor controls a circle/oval that reveals the scent layers behind the text so each of the 10 letters can relate to a scent-evoking image e.g. coffee beans, moss, dry woods, floral, fruits etc.

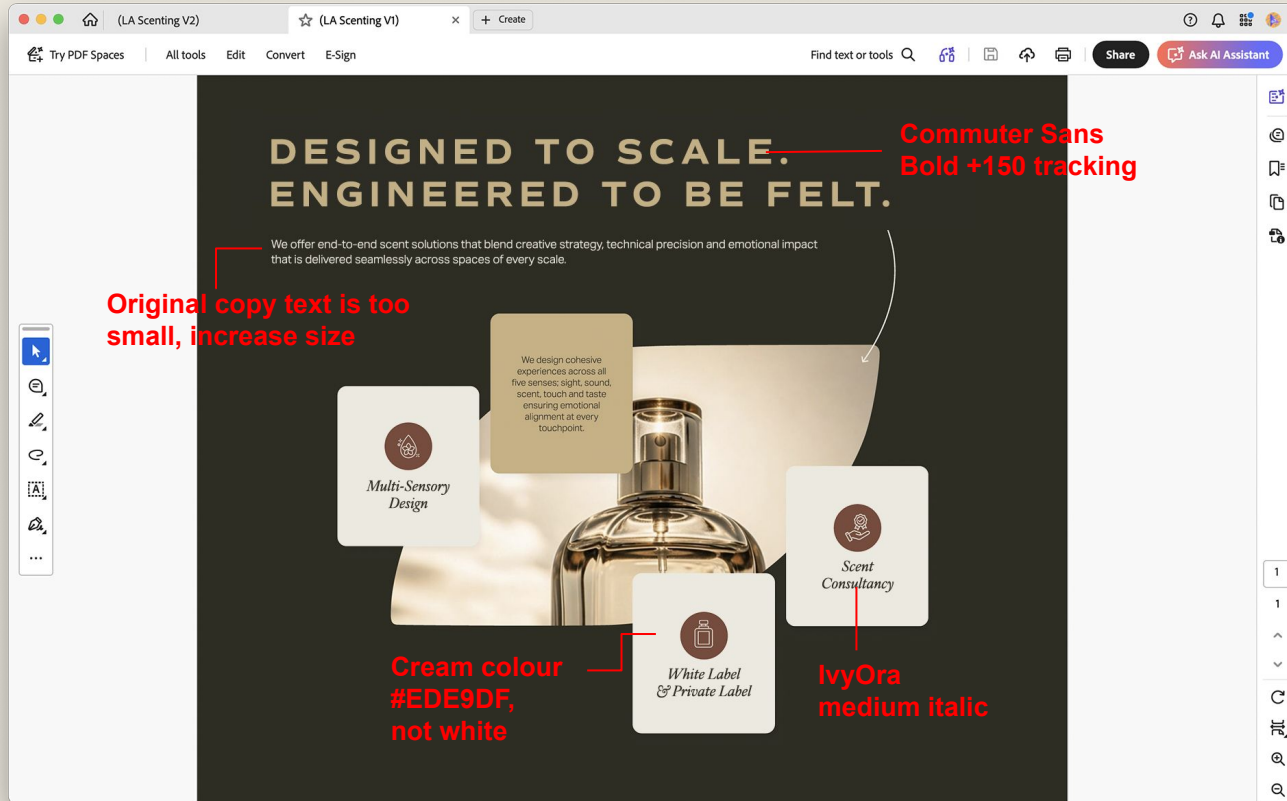

OUR STORIES

Changi Airport Singapore - Flagship Project

Changi Airport stands as a benchmark for how scent can shape behaviour, define identity and elevate global experiences.

DESIGNED TO SCALE. ENGINEERED TO BE FELT.

We offer end-to-end scent solutions that blend creative strategy, technical precision and emotional impact that is delivered seamlessly across spaces of every scale.

We design cohesive experiences across all five senses: sight, sound, scent, touch and taste ensuring emotional alignment at every touchpoint.
